

Goals continue to be the focus.

Project Read focuses on the strengths and skills students already possess and then uses those strengths and skills to encourage the development of literacy skills. Tutors are trained to apply reading and writing skills to everyday life so the adults see how what they are learning is applicable.

Project Read focuses on retention until a student completes the program or accomplishes his or her goals. Goals and outcomes will continue to be the focus of Project Read services.

Combat the cycle of illiteracy.

In the United States, an estimated 30 million people over the age of 16 read no better than the average elementary school child. Yet the ability to read and write is the basis for all other education. Without literacy skills, today's adults will struggle to take part in the world around them and fail to reach their full potential as parents, community members, and employees.

Project Read served 46 students this past year to combat the cycle of illiteracy in Utah County.

2019 Annual Report

80%

of students post-tested increased their skills in reading, language, or math.

57%

of students achieved at least one literacy-related goal.

CHANGING LIVES THROUGH LITERACY

- Araceli J.

My dream is to have a career, but I used to think that my dream would be impossible. Thanks to Project Read helpers, I can now see my goals closely. I hope that in a year I will have my GED, be able to go to university and make my dream come true.

Financial

Although revenues and expenditures have both increased, the amount of income has increased at a higher rate than the rate of expenses, and the amount of unrestricted net assets has more than quadrupled since 2001.

Project Read relies on grants, corporate sponsorships, and individual donations to continue offering its services. Without community support, Project Read could not realize the successes it has each year. Give the fundamental gift of reading. Donate at www.projectreadutah.org.
